MEMORANDUM

April 26, 2022

TO: All Agencies

FROM: James Gast, Administrator

SUBJECT: Post Office announces changes to delivery times beginning May 1, 2022

The U.S. Postal Service (USPS) has announced that, effective May 1, 2022, it will be modifying service standards for First-Class Package Service (FCPS), which will result in longer delivery times for some mailings. USPS has indicated that 64 percent of FCPS volume will be unaffected by the change, 4 percent will be upgraded from a 3-day to 2-day service standard, and for the remaining 32 percent, the service standard will increase by one or two days.

Additionally, USPS is removing an extra day for Priority Mail transported via ground (not air), which it had temporarily put in place in April 2020.

To view nationwide service standards—the delivery benchmarks for how long customers can expect the Postal Service to deliver different types of mail—visit the USPS Service Standards Maps: <https://postalpro.usps.com/ppro-tools/service-standards-maps>. When entering ZIP and City Name from the drop-down menu, northern offices should use “894 RENO NV” and southern offices should use “890 LAS VEGAS NV”.
